

22st Latin Summer School
Monday 18 January to Friday 22 January 2017
Education Building, University of Sydney

Outline of Course

BEGINNERS

Level 1A This is for complete beginners with no prior knowledge of the language. Students will be introduced to Latin pronunciation and sentence structure as well as basic grammar and syntax. Topics to be covered include: first and second declension nouns, first-second declension adjectives, first and second conjugation verbs (present and imperfect tenses), the irregular verbs “to be” and “to be able”, prepositions and conjunctions. A composite course booklet will be provided.

Tutor: Mary Triantafyllou, Lisa Aronson

Level 1B This will begin with the basics, and move into simple translation with lots of grammar. For those who have begun Latin but have not progressed very far. Topics to be covered include: first, second and third declension nouns and adjectives, comparative and superlative adjectives, indicative active verbs (present, imperfect, perfect and pluperfect), imperative and infinitive verbs. A composite course booklet will be provided.

Tutors: Alex Pinkham, Barbara Twomey

STARTING AGAIN

Level 1C If you did some Latin some time (or a long time!) ago and want to go back to the beginning, this is the course for you. It will cover grammar and readings. Grammar topics to be covered depend on the needs of the class, but might include: nouns (all declensions), verbs (all conjugations), indirect commands, statements and questions, result and purpose clauses, expressions of wish, gerunds and gerundives, and case usage. A composite course booklet will be provided.

Tutor: Jerome Westenberg

INTERMEDIATE

Level 2A This requires some knowledge of Latin grammar which will be developed, and classes will be split between reading passages of original Latin and grammar work. Grammar topics to be covered depend on the needs of the class, but might include: the introduction of subjunctive forms, indirect statements, ablative absolutes, and conditionals. A composite course booklet will be provided.

Tutors: John Coombs and Mike Salter

Level 2B This will have greater emphasis on extensive graded readings with (optional) prior preparation, while grammar will be revised and extended. You should be familiar with all tenses and cases, but not necessarily passives or subjunctives. Grammar topics to be covered depend on the needs of the class, but might include: revision of verb forms (and introduction of passive or subjunctive forms as required), word order and tactics for reading Latin sentences, gerunds and gerundives, case usage, uses of the subjunctive, revision of noun and adjective declensions and participles. A composite course booklet will be provided.

Tutor: Alexander Westenberg

Level 2C This will be more challenging than 2B, with plenty of readings and grammar revision. Prior preparation of the readings is essential. Grammar topics to be covered depend on the needs of the class, but might include: uses of the ablative, ablative absolutes, gerunds and gerundives, purpose and result clauses, sequence of tenses, indirect statements, relative clauses in indirect discourse. A composite course booklet will be provided.

Tutor: Dane Drivas, Emma Barlow

INTERMEDIATE PLUS

Level 3A This is designed to widen your reading experience with a variety of original Latin texts, and will include work on style, interpretation, scansion and reading technique. Prior preparation of the readings is essential. Grammar will be explained as needed. Suitable for students sitting the HSC exams in 2016, and for undergraduates with one year's Latin.

Tutors: Andrew Miles, Anthony Gibbins and Caroline Brehaut, Phoebe Garrett

You will have three teachers, once each day, and read all three groups of texts.

Level 3B This course is designed for primary school teachers. Parents of young children are also welcome. No prior knowledge of Latin is assumed. Teachers will be able to teach simple Latin as a means of expanding children's English vocabulary and understanding of grammar, against an enchanting background of Roman life and Greek myths. Latin for Literacy has been outstandingly successful in England since 2006. The cute Minimus course is hugely popular and accessible.

Tutors: Jane Maguire (UK) and Emily Matters.

ADVANCED

Level 4 This level will be reading-based, and texts may be allocated for translation in class. Students are expected to have prepared the texts in advance and discussion is encouraged. Attention will be paid to literary analysis, grammatical and textual problems, and social and historical context. In the 4.X and 4.Y classes in particular, more attention is given to interpretation than translation. There will be two sessions each day, and participants choose one class from each session. Optional special interest classes will be offered for Level 4 students in the afternoons (you sign up for these on the first day of the summer school). Composite course booklets will be provided.

SCHOOL STUDENT APPLICATIONS

School student applications must be accompanied by endorsement of a Latin teacher (unless you are an absolute beginner) and a letter from a parent or guardian. The parental consent and teacher endorsement forms can be downloaded from the LSS website:

www.latinsummerschool.com.au

The lower age limit to attend the LSS is 14. Total beginners may enrol in 1A. Those in 1B should have done at least a semester of Latin. All other students must be entering at least Year 9 in 2017. 3A is the highest level available for school students.

PARKING VOUCHERS (not available to school students)

Limited near campus parking will be available in the grounds of St Paul's College at the special price of $40 for the week. Please include this amount in your payment if you would like parking.

KEN MOSS MEMORIAL BURSARY

There is a bursary of $500 available to help with accommodation and subsistence costs associated with attending the summer school. If you live outside the Sydney metropolitan area and would not be able to attend the summer school without financial assistance, then you are eligible to apply. The bursary was established in memory of Ken Moss, a long-time student at the school, founder member of the Sydney Latin Reading Group, and Chancellor of Newcastle University. Please tick if you would like to be considered by the Directors of the LSS for this bursary.

I am eligible for the Ken Moss memorial bursary, and would like to be considered for it

Applications should be made, preferably by the end of November 2016, via the online form on our website (www.latinsummerschool.com.au), or by mail (or email attachment), addressed to:
